

While I plan to play videogames, I struggle to get into the rhythm of doing so. This is because I struggle with finding the motivation to get started with doing my homework and studying. This is because I always feel like putting it off all the time because I feel like its gonna take forever.